¹turbātum – in disorder

Brandō catulum sūmit et in armāriō pōnit. Deinde tapēte pūrum facit. Tōtum cubiculum pūrum facit.

Tandem Brandō dormīre vult. Valdē vult dormīre! Sed catulus iterum sonōs facit. “Mmmm...bau...mmmm.” Brandō ad armārium it ad catulum sūmendū. Subitō Iacōbus per fenestram intrat.

“Salvē, Brandō! Ut valēs?”

“Nōn valeō!” respondet Brandō ān-xius.

“Quid accidit?”

Brandō omnia nārrat. Tandem

“Iacōbe,” inquit, “māter nōn iam
vult convīvium nātāle celebrāre!”

“Ēheu!” exclāmat Iacōbus.

“Cerberus,” inquit Brandō, “multās difficultātēs affert. Ita est ut māter dīxit: Canis magnam dīligentiam requirit.”

“Nōn iam canem vīs?” inquit Iacōbus.

“Volō, sed est maximus labor. Sum octo annōs nātus...”

“Mox novem annōs nātus eris!” res-pondet Iacōbus laetus.

Iacōbus videt Brandōnem esse valdē ānxium.

Brandō, remedium habeō. Fer catulum ad hortōs!"

"Ad hortōs?" inquit Brandō. "Quid deinde?"

"Deinde," inquit Iacōbus, "alius puer eum vidēbit et domum feret²."

"Nōlō eum relinquere!" exclāmat Brandō.

"Nōlī timēre. Alius puer eum adoptābit. Est cōsiliū³ optimum!"

Iacōbus est ingeniōsus. Tandem Iacōbus Brandōnī persuādet. Brandō catulum ad hortōs feret. Puerī cōsiliū sēcrētum habent. Cōsiliū optimum habent!

²feret – (he) will bring

³cōsiliū – plan

Capitulum 9 Cōsiliū Sēcrētum

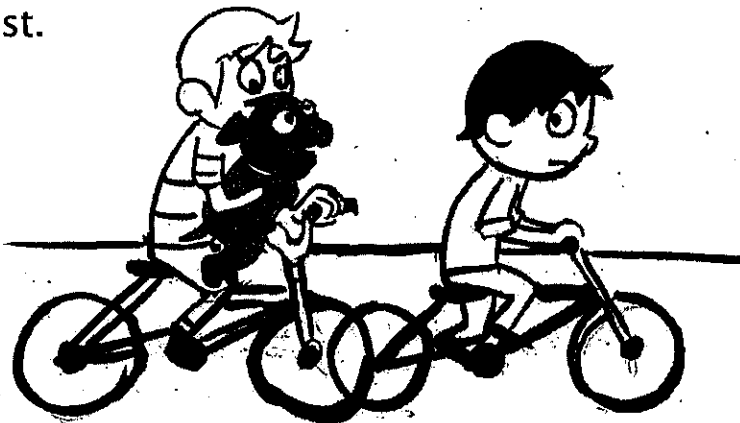

Hōrā septimā p.m., Iacōbus domum Brandōnis revenit. Brandō est in lectō. Brandō Iacōbum per fenestram videt. Iacōbus Brandōnem per fenestram videt, neque catulum. Catulus in armāriō sonōs facit. Brandō est valdē ānxius. Nōn vult domō abīre sē-crētō! Sed aliud cōnsilium nōn

habet.

Brandō ad armārium it. Armā-rium aperit et catulum sūmit.
Brandō cum catulō
per fenestram exit. Brandō est ānxius.

Puerī birotīs hortōs petunt. Catulus sonōs facit: "Mmm...mmm...mmm."
Brandō catulum īnspicit et valdē ānxius est.

"Iacōbe," inquit Brandō vōce ānxiā,
"sum ānxius dē Cerberō."

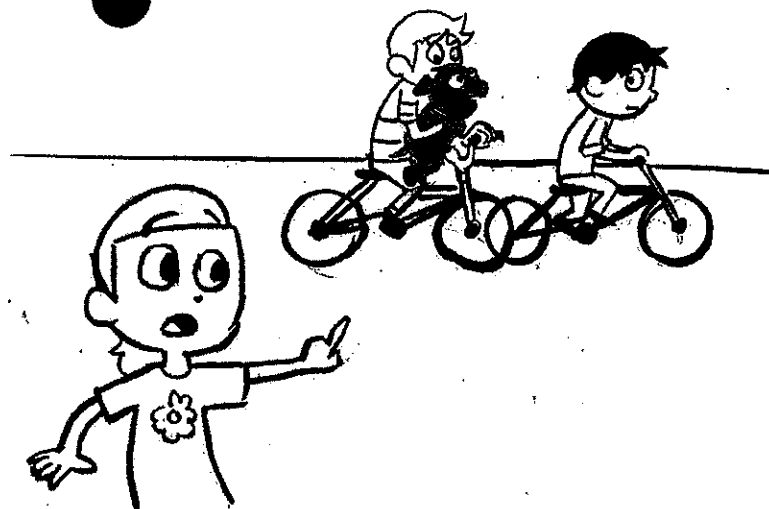

"Nōlī timēre, Brandō," respondet Iacōbus.
"Cōnsilium meum est cōn-silium optimum."

"Dē mātrem quoque ānxius sum..."
respondet Brandō ānxius. "Nōlō mātrēm cubiculum meum intrāre et vidēre mē nōn in lectō esse...Ēheu!"

Iacōbus nōn respondet. Iacōbus quo-que est ānxius. Puerī cum silentiō hortōs petunt.

In hortīs, catulus sonōs facit:
"Mmm...mmm...mmm." Brandō est valdē ānxius dē catulō. Eum īnspicit et "Cer-bere," inquit, "Nōlō tē relinquere."

Catulus cum silentiō Brandōnem īnspi-cit. Catulus quoque ānxius est. Iacōbus Brandōnem et catulum īnspicit. Difficile est catulum in hortīs relinquere. Est cōsiliū optimum, sed...Subitō Brandō magnam vōcem audit:

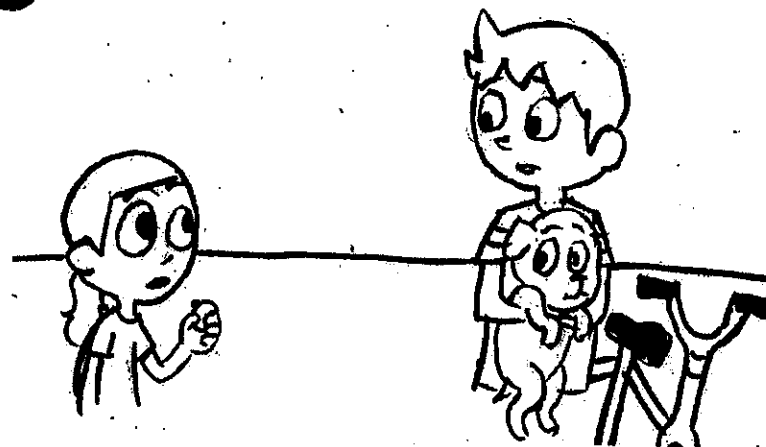

“Ecce catulus meus! Catulum meum habēs!”

Parva puella Brandōnem vėlōciter petit. Brandō puellam videt et respondet:

“Catulus est tuus?”

“Est!” inquit puella. “Vidēsne collāre album?”

“Videō,” respondet Brandō. “Sed collāre neque nōmen habet neque numerus tēlephōnicum.”

Puella rem explānat:

“Ego partem collāris habeō. Ecce nōmen et numerus tēlephōnicus.”

Brandō nōmen canis videt. Nōmen est ‘Fortūnātus.’

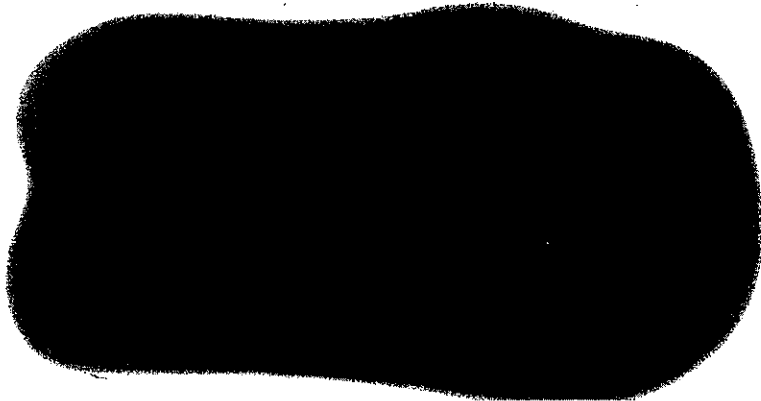

“Grātiās tibi agō!” exclāmat puella.
 “Catulum meum cūrāvistī¹! Tū es
 puer dīligēns!”

Puella canem sūmit valdē laeta.

“Valē, Cerb...Fortūnāte,” inquit
 Brandō.

“Iterum grātiās tibi agō,” inquit
 puella et deinde cum catulō abit.

Puerī birotīs vėlōciter domum petunt.
 Brandō est valdē ānxius. Iacōbus quoque est ānxius. Puerī cum silentiō domum petunt.

¹cūrāvistī – you cared for Tandem, Brandō cum silentiō cubiculum per fenestram intrat. Fenestram claudit et subitō...māter cubiculum intrat.

 Māter ānxia Brandōnem interrogat:

“Ut valēs, Brandō?”

“Valeō, mamma,” respondet
 Brandō. “Bene valeō.”

"Dormī bene, Brandō."

Māter ex cubiculō exit, sed Brandō exclāmat:

"Mammaaaa!"

Māter in cubiculum revenit.

"Ignōsce mihi²," inquit Brandō.

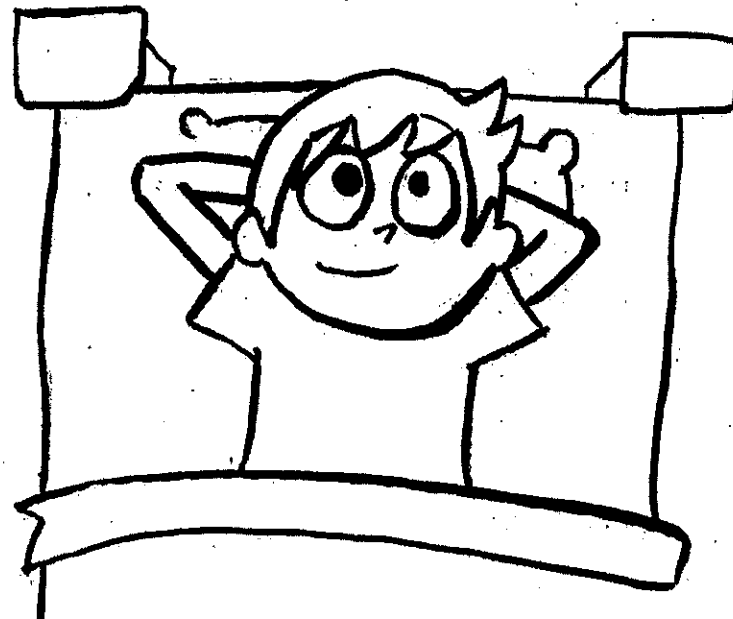

"Ssst," inquit māter. "Dormī. Dormī bene."

Māter exit et Brandō est laetus. "Est cōsiliū optimum," inquit Brandō. Et Brandō statim obdormit.

²ignōsce mihi – forgive me

Capitulum 10

Dīs Nātālis

Hōrā octāvā a.m., Brandō ēvigilat. Est valdē laetus. Nōn iam canem cūrandum habet. Catulus nōn iam multās difficultātēs affert. Puella catulum suū habet.

Puella catulum cūrat.

Brandō laetus ex cubiculō exit.

Māter ānxia eum interrogat:

“Ut valēs, Brandō?”

“Valeō, mamma,” respondet Brandō laetus. “Bene valeō. Optimē valeō!”

“Nōn iam aeger es?” Māter Brandō-nem interrogat.

“Minimē. Nōn iam aeger sum. Optimē valeō!” exclāmat Brandō.

Brandō vōce firmā respondet, quia mātēr persuādere vult. Convīvium nātāle celebrāre vult, et mātēr persuādere vult convīvium nātāle celebrāre. Brandō videt mātrem esse ānxiam. Brandō quoque est ānxius.

“Mamma...,” inquit Brandō vōce ānxiā, “Celebrābimusne¹ convīvium nātāle?”

¹celebrābimusne... – will we celebrate...?

“Esne aeger?” inquit Māter.

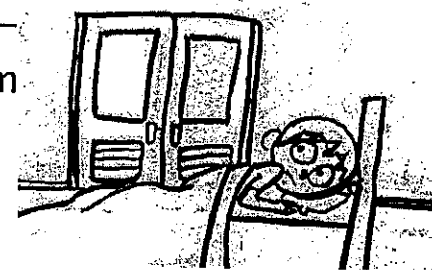

“Nōn sum aeger. Optimē valeō!” exclāmat Brandō.

“Ergō convīvium nātāle celebrābimus!” exclāmat Māter.

Brandō et māter per tōtum diem domum decorant ad convīvium nātāle. Brandō est valdē laetus.

Est diēs longus. Tandem, Brandō cubiculum intrat et statim in lectō obdormit. Optimē dormit. Hōrā octāvā a.m. ēvigilat. Nullōs sonōs canīnōs audit! Nullās difficultātēs habet! Ita est ut māter dīxit: canēs multās difficultātēs afferunt. Brandō nōn iam difficultātēs habet. Valdē laetus est.

Subitō tōta familia cubiculum intrat.

"Evigilā," inquit māter vōce laetā.
"Fēlīcem diem nātālem!"

"Fēlīcem diem nātālem," inquit soror.

"Fēlīcem diem nātālem!" exclāmat
pater.

Brandō est valdē laetus.

Deinde, tōta familia domum ad convīvium nātāle decorat.

Subitō Brandō sonum audit: 'Dīn, don.'
Brandō iānuam aperit et aviam² videt. Avia magnum dōnum fert.

"Fēlīcem diem nātālem, Brandō," inquit avia vōce laetā.

"Grātiās tibi agō, avia," respondet Brandō laetus.

Brandō dōnum aviae sūmit. Dīn, don.
Brandō iterum iānuam aperit et amīcam suam Amāliam videt. Amālia domum in-trat.

²avia(m) – grandma

"Salvē, Brandō," inquit Amālia. "Fēlicem diem nātālem."

"Grātiās tibi agō, Amālia," respondet Brandō.

Deinde multī amīcī domum intrant. Tandem Iacōbus intrat cum amīcīs suīs Samuēle et Manuēle.

Multī amīcī convīvium celebrant. Est convīvium optimum! Puerī et puellae multās rēs iūcundās agunt et bene prandent. Deinde māter Brandōnis exclāmat:

"Dōna!"

Brandō est laetus. Sunt multa dōna. Brandō dōna aperīre vult. Parvum dōnum aperit; est iPad®.

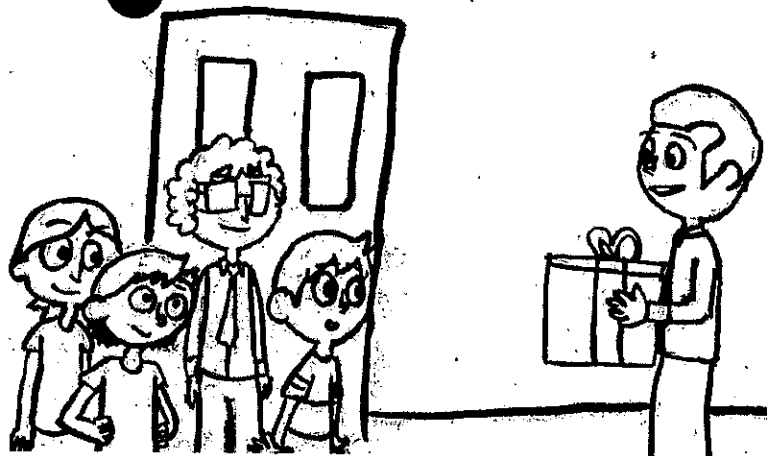

"Hui!" exclāmat Brandō.

Deinde Brandō magnum dōnum sūmit et aperit. Est mīcroscopium.

"Papae!" exclāmat Brandō laetus.

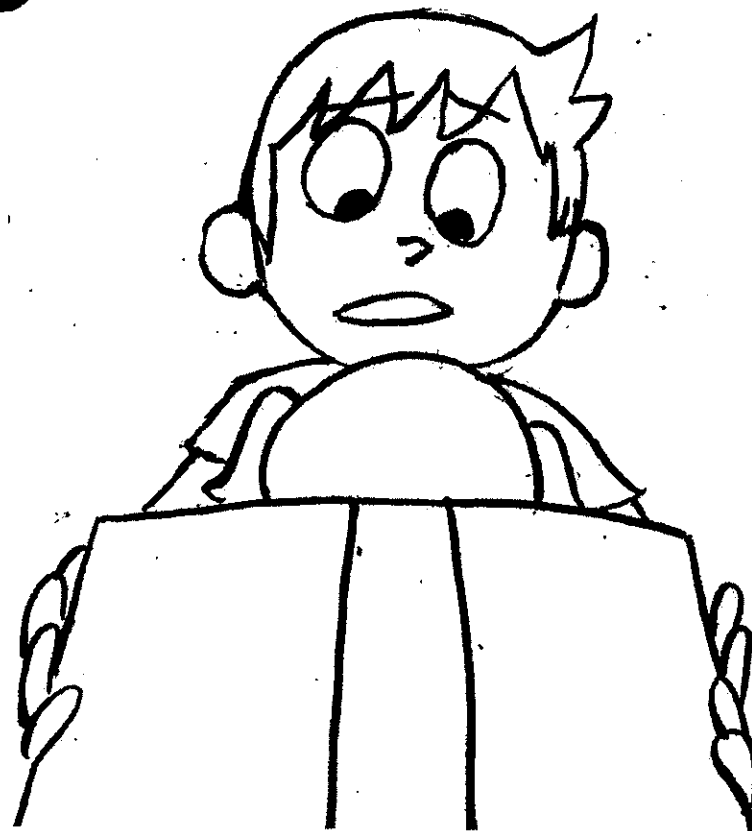

Brandō multa dōna aperit. Aperit magna dōna et parva dōna.

Brandō nōn iam dōna videt et amīcī suī abīre volunt. Subitō pater intrat, dōnum ferēns. Pater exclāmat vōce laetā:

"Ecce dōnum meum!"

Brandō dōnum sūmit. Omnēs amīcī Brandōnem īnspiciunt. Omnēs amīcī īnspiciunt dōnum. Brandō dōnum aperit et...

...videt...catulum!

"Mmmm...bau bau," inquit catulus.

"Ēheu!" inquit Brandō.
